Purpose

- 1) IBC Education recognises that the preservation and management of records pertaining to the full range of institutional activity is critical to effective business operations, transparency, and accountability in relation to decisions taken at IBC Education.
- 2) This Policy provides guidance to staff of IBC Education in relation to the creation, management, storage, retrieval, and disposal of records. This Policy complies with relevant legislative and regulatory standards as well as good practice principles in business records management.

Scope

- 3) This Policy applies to:

- a) all staff of IBC Education whether full-time, part-time, casual or contract;
- b) members of IBC Education's governing bodies;
- c) individuals engaged in providing services to IBC Education or receiving services from IBC Education, such as students, contractors or consultants; and
- d) all records generated within IBC Education including paper-based and electronic records and all data.

Policy

Principles

- 4) A full and accurate record of activities of IBC Education will be created, captured and maintained in systems with appropriate recordkeeping functionality and controls.
- 5) Records will be made available within the constraints of security, confidentiality, privacy and archival access conditions.

Records

- 6) IBC Education recognises that it generates important and extensive records related to teaching, scholarship, students, staff, finances, business administration and other activities and is committed to good practice in the creation, management, retrieval, security, and disposal of such records by this Policy.
- 7) Personal privacy and risk mitigation are fundamental considerations in the management of all corporate and personal records.
- 8) Access to records is restricted to authorised staff with a business process requirement.

Data

- 9) Data is collected only for the following purposes:
 - a) to support IBC Education's operational activities;
 - b) to inform quality improvement, risk management and strategic planning; and
 - c) to meet external reporting requirements.
- 10) Collection of accurate and complete data is the responsibility of all IBC Education staff.
- 11) Personal data held by IBC Education is collected and managed in a responsible manner.
- 12) Data is protected from unauthorised access and modification, and disposal of data is undertaken securely on the basis of approved applications.
- 13) Data is only made available to third parties in accordance with legal and regulatory requirements.

Procedure

- 14) This procedure outlines record keeping procedures and processes as follows:
 - a) The General requirements for record keeping;
 - b) Specific requirements by record type; and
 - c) Staff records.

General requirements for record keeping

15) The general requirements for record keeping are outlined below and include:

- a) Record creation and capture;
- b) Record storage, archiving and disposal; and
- c) Record security and data storage.

Record creation and capture

- 16) All members of staff are required to create, capture and appropriately manage records relating to their work, regardless of the format of the records and including records of decisions made and actions taken. Records will be maintained (stored and preserved) in conditions suitable to the length of time they need to be kept and made available for use. This applies regardless of the format of the records or the media they are stored on.
- 17) All documents must be marked with version control numbering and authority.

Record storage, archiving and disposal

- 18) In determining appropriate storage for current and non-current records, consideration must be given to the protection provided by any selected storage facility, sensitivity of records, required retention periods as well as access requirements and demands.
- 19) IBC Education will apply adequate security measures for the access and use of records in accordance with legislative, regulatory or business requirements. Records should be accessible on a 'need-to-know' basis and security arrangements should provide for reasonable protection and detection of breaches.
- 20) CEO approval is required prior to IBC Education being relinquished, amended, destroyed or damaged, noting that the following legislated retention periods apply:
- a) business records must be kept for a minimum of seven (7) years;
 - b) marketing records must be kept for a minimum of five (5) years;
 - c) student records must be kept for a period of five (5) years after the student's graduation, except for records necessary to re-issue or authenticate students' academic transcripts or testaments, which must be kept in perpetuity; and
 - d) staff records must be kept for a minimum of five (5) years after the staff member has ceased employment at the IBC Education.

Record security and data protection

- 21) The security of records is established through electronic back-up, and/or secure storage on-site or off-site in an area where records are protected from damage and incursion but may be retrieved as required and authorised. Measures for the prevention of unauthorised access, disclosure or alteration of personal, sensitive or otherwise confidential information include the following controls:
- a) the Student Services Manager may only provide access to student and staff records, respectively, on a 'need-to-know' basis;
 - b) third party access to personal information is limited and is governed by IBC Education's Personal Information and Privacy Policy;

- c) physical records are stored in secured areas or secured cabinets; and
- d) contracts with external parties which may access or be provided with IBC Education records have relevant legal provisions included in their contracts, and are inducted, on IBC Education's records management requirements and processes. Hiring managers are responsible for ensuring that contractors abide by the relevant contractual provisions and IBC Education policies.

22) IBC Education has processes and controls in place for the protection of data. IBC Education identifies critical data loss scenarios and implements controls accordingly. Security protocols implemented based on the classification of the data and primarily include access control and restrictions.

Specific requirements by record type

23) There are two record types have special and specific requirements that must be followed. These are outlined below and include:

- a) Student records; and
- b) Staff records.

Student records

24) IBC Education recognises that it has a duty of care towards students and must therefore preserve and protect student information generated at IBC Education in a manner that satisfies privacy laws, record management and retention regulations.

25) In accordance with privacy principles, student records are only accessible to the Academic Dean and staff from the Student Services and Admissions units.

Student files

26) All students are allocated an individual file upon formal application for enrolment at IBC Education. The student file must contain at a minimum:

- a) application and certification documentation, including Written Agreements and receipts of payments, enrolment data, financial transactions, academic results and progress information, formal communications between staff and students, and any incidents involving individual students such as:
 - (i) complaints;
 - (ii) allegations of misconduct and breaches of academic integrity;
 - (iii) critical incidents; and
 - (iv) external communications about students that are generated by IBC Education.

27) Student file records must be stored securely for a minimum period of five (5) years after the graduation of the student, or when the student ceases to be a student of IBC.

Student data

28) Electronic records must be generated for each student across all enrolment periods.

- 29) The academic results of all students are to be kept in electronic, password protected, secure formats and in accordance with part 20) c) of this Policy.
- 30) Student records required for transcript and/or testamur re-issue are categorised as perpetual records and must be retained by IBC Education indefinitely.

Student Personal Details

- 31) IBC Education is required to maintain accurate and up-to-date information on accepted students, including contact details, and provide this data to the Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency (TEQSA) under certain circumstances.
- 32) IBC Education requires students to maintain up-to-date and correct contact details at all times:
- a) commencing and continuing students are required to confirm their personal details during the enrolment process for each study period as per the relevant Enrolment Policy; and
 - b) students are regularly reminded to notify IBC Education of any change to their contact details.

Staff records

- 33) All staff at IBC Education are allocated a staff file at the point of employment. The staff file must contain at minimum staff job application documents, including: certified qualifications, resume, appointment details, awards, documentation in relation to any misconduct, police clearance documents or service contract and performance reviews.
- 34) Electronic staff records must capture staff payments, taxation, superannuation and any associated financial activity between IBC Education and staff.
- 35) In accordance with the 'need-to-know' principle, staff records are only accessible to the CEO, Academic Dean (for academic staff), and the direct supervisor.
- 36) IBC Education must keep copies of staff records available at the request of any staff or by a former staff member. Staff will have access to their records/files.

Responsibilities

- 37) Records management is the overall responsibility of the CEO and the Board of Directors.
- 38) The Student Services Manager is responsible for the management of student records.
- 39) Managers are responsible for records management pertaining to their business area and their reporting staff.
